

Abstract

The present invention relates to a test procedure for determining the suitability of user equipment for use in an airplane with the airplanes' in-flight communications system. The method comprises the steps of determining an operator of said user equipment, verifying the user equipment suitability for use with the airplanes' communication system, and communicating this information to a database contained within the in-flight communication system.

(Figure 1)